Aims: The aim is to stop others from benefiting from someone's talents or creativity. It also allows them to recover the time, money, and effort invested into developing a product. The creativity of people has had a profound impact on the growth and prosperity of our society. Technology and culture have enabled us to go beyond where we could have ever imagined.

Objectives: Utilizing Intellectual Property is essential for advancing the National IPR Policy and boosting India's creativity, innovation, competitiveness, and economic progress. IPRs must be created in India and then legally protected in order for the Indian economy to continue its spectacular expansion. India's growth in intellectual property has been hampered by a lack of understanding of individuals' rights to protect their ideas and creations as well as by a lack of understanding of the process required to get an IPR. It's time for India to rise and take the lead in intellectual property and innovation given its potential and significance in the global arena.
