PROPOSAL FOR SCIENCE POPULARISATION PROGRAMME (2025-26)

Title of Programme: "POLYCYSTIC OVARIAN SYNDROME: AWARENESS, PREVENTION AND MANAGEMENT IN THE PRESENT ERA"

Submitted To:

The Department of Science & Technology and Biotechnology

(Category: Colleges, eligible for maximum sanction: ₹1,50,000)

(As per Funding Pattern Clause 11: 2-day programme, minimum 50 participants)

1. Programme Overview

Polycystic Ovarian Syndrome (PCOS) is one of the most common yet underdiagnosed endocrine disorders affecting adolescent girls and women of reproductive age globally, including a significant proportion within West Bengal. Rapid lifestyle transitions, increasing stress levels, hormonal imbalance, irregular diet patterns, and lack of awareness have contributed to rising cases of PCOS among young women, especially students. Despite its high prevalence, misconceptions, delayed diagnosis, stigma, and inadequate health literacy continue to limit effective prevention and management.

The proposed two-day programme titled "POLYCYSTIC OVARIAN SYNDROME: AWARENESS, PREVENTION AND MANAGEMENT IN THE PRESENT ERA" aims to popularize scientific understanding of PCOS through medical perspectives, lifestyle science, preventive strategies, mental health awareness, and evidence-based management approaches. The programme will bring together experts from Obstetrics & Gynaecology, Endocrinology, Nutrition Science, Psychology, and Yoga/Wellness to address PCOS as a multidimensional health condition rather than merely a reproductive disorder.

Through interactive lectures, medical demonstrations, diagnostic awareness sessions, dietary counselling workshops, and fitness-oriented modules, the event will empower participants—particularly young students—to recognize symptoms early, seek appropriate medical guidance, and adopt healthier long-term lifestyle habits. The programme additionally focuses on destigmatising menstrual and hormonal health conversations, thus promoting a culture of scientific openness and self-awareness among the youth.

The initiative aligns with the broader national priorities of improving women's health, reproductive literacy, preventive health education, and holistic wellness, as highlighted under the National Education Policy (NEP-2020), Fit India Movement, and Sustainable Development Goal (SDG-3:

Good Health and Well-being). By providing accurate, research-based, and culturally contextualized knowledge, the programme aims to equip young women, educators, and community stakeholders with the tools necessary to manage and prevent PCOS effectively in contemporary society.

This two-day programme aims to popularise awareness about PCOS by combining:

- Expert lectures
- Workshop related to health survey
- Health camp
- Exercise and Meditation
- Advice from nutritionist

2. Objectives of the Programme

- To raise awareness about PCOS among the students
- To conduct a health survey based on google forms
